Doings of the Legislature

Sacramento.—The governor, in submitting his budget called attention to the fact that he had included in it all the items both of expenditures and receipts which it was possible to estimate in advance. That he construed was the intention of the budget constitutional provision, differing in that view from the opinion of his predecessor. This year's budget therefore includes such items as the highways although their support comes largely from a special tax on gasoline. In comparing therefore the pending budget with those that preceded it, the comparison was not made with the items included in the Richardson budgets alone, but with the entire expenditures for the four years of the Richardson administration for all the items mentioned in the Young budget. Though the Young budget reaches a total of $193,518,165, for the biennial period—the largest sum yet demanded—it shows only an increase of 7.4% over the figures for 1925-27 while the latter budget showed an increase of 26% over the budget for 1923-25. In twelve years, since 1917, the state expenditures have grown from $61,122,962 to the sum three times and over that amount asked for the biennial period commencing July 1, next. The issue, therefore, is raised, how are the ever-mounting expenditures of the state to be met? Must our tax system be changed, since any reduction of expenditures is admittedly out of the question?

To meet that problem and to answer it satisfactorily the governor suggested to the legislature, which has carried out his views, the appointment of a commission consisting of members of the legislature, state officers and outside experts to study the tax systems of the other states in the Union and to report on what changes, if any, are needed in the California system at the next session of the legislature in 1929. It changes requiring constitutional amendments are needed they can then be submitted to the people at the election of 1931, until then it is thought that the present system with the surplus in the treasury will be sufficient to carry on the state government, after that date, however, the income of the state from the present plan of taxation will be insufficient to meet its bills.

After a conference between the delegations from all parts of the state a gasoline tax bill has been decided upon which meets with general favor. Incidentally it is proposed to divide the highways into two classes; the great trunk lines and interstate roads, and secondly the smaller roads all over the state. There is no provision for extending the highway system in contemplation, although there are numerous bills providing that this or that road shall be added to the highway system or that new highways shall be built from various points named in the measures proposed. It is, however, very doubtful if any of those special road measures will pass and if passed will escape the Governor's veto. They would mean an increase expenditure and that neither the legislature nor the governor are likely to look upon favorably.

An economic plan of the governor would consolidate various departments and bureaus now functioning as separate entities and bills to carry that program into effect have been introduced. The state board of health is to be made into a department and its head will be styled director of public health. The department of labor and industrial relations is also in contemplation, on a reorganized plan. When the various departments are consolidated and reorganized their heads will form a cabinet which will meet at certain stated times; and at the call of the governor, just as the presidential cabinet meets in Washington, and the various interests of the state will be discussed at a round table. By that means all doubling, and crosswiring will be avoided and it is hoped large sums saved to the state.

It is proposed to appropriate $100,000 to build a new executive mansion as the present gubernatorial mansion is far from an up-to-date home, but Governor Young had his representative announce that he was opposed to the measure, and was perfectly satisfied with the present house.

It is proposed to create the office of director of prisons and to appoint former Warden Johnson, who is now a San Francisco banker, to the place at a handsome salary. The director would have full charge of both prisons and possibly of the reform schools and would seek to work them as a harmonious whole.

Senator Fellon would amend the Syndicalism law so as to punish treasonable acts but not words, or any radical speech.

COMMUNITY WATER CONSERVATION

Everybody Go to Almaden and Gaudalupe creek to see something in water conservation. If you have not a horse or car to drive, it is not too far to walk and the sight is good enough to pay even for the walk. You will find six or seven dams made of sacks of gravel which dams are holding back the stream so that much water is percolating into the gravel than would go in if the water followed its usual free course. The dams were completed in time to receive the increased flow from recent rains which began about January 6, but the water did not reach and fill the lower dams until Jan. 20. Then the stream flow passed the dams and went to a point about one-half mile below the Downer Ave. bridge where the last of the flow disappears in the gravel.

Some conservative farmers estimate that 10,000 gallons a minute are flowing into the upper gravel beds on the Cooney ranch. That would be 600,000 gallons an hour or 14,400,000 gallons per day. An acre foot of water contains 325,000 gallons, hence there are over 40 acre feet of water going into those creek gravels every day. The sand bag dams are helping to force this water into the gravels to replenish all the wells that the water may reach.

All this building of dams has been done by the Valley Water Conservation Association, an organization very recently formed as the result of studies begun a year ago by the Grange and Farmers Union. The Association is incorporated under the California Co-operative law for the purpose of conserving the flood waters of Santa Clara Valley. The work on Almaden and Gaudalupe creeks is only a beginning of a large saving of water which can be made on those and other of the valley streams if the Association secures the backing of our people with money and moral support.

An appeal for membership is now being made because the conservation of our flood waters can not be accomplished without the support of a large part of our citizens. Membership in the Association includes the paying of a $2.00 joining fee and $5.00 yearly dues. Get next to your local Association Director and sign an application. They are J. E. Wiesen-danger, S. N. Hedegard, Lloyd Gardner and Ed. Howes. The amount of water conservation which can be done in Los Gatos creek will ultimately depend upon how much support is given by our local people. There ought to be 200 members in our Campbell section.

We may pave all our highways, erect beautiful hotels, banks, business houses, factories and school buildings, but if the water supply of our Valley should fail all our investments have come to naught and the glory of our beautiful valley has faded. Be a joiner in the work of conserving water.

ANNOUNCEMENT PARTY

The B. O. Curry home was the scene of an enjoyable party last Saturday evening when Miss Ethel announced her engagement to Walker E. Vaughn. The evening was spent with games and dancing. Delicious refreshments were served on individual trays, the favors being miniature wedding bells which "told" the secret, two heart shaped clappers bearing the names of the engaged couple. The color scheme was of pastel shades. A jolly good time followed the announcement, the guests departing at a late hour wishing Miss Ethel and her fiancée much happiness. Thirty friends were invited for the occasion.

Liquor has killed more men than war, but ask most any doughboy which he would prefer.

CAMPBELL HATCHERIES FORECAST BIG YEAR

Campbell is steadily gaining ground as a chick producing center and developments of the past few weeks have set a still higher goal. With all the hens in the country busy they are not producing eggs enough to keep these new fangled "settin hens" busy. It's a source of no little envy to some of the choice layers and brood hens to see their natural right, that of raising a family, usurped by a man made contraption of wood and iron doing the mothering act and on such an immense scale too. The Mission Hatchery has installed two new hatchers a Buckery of 12,000 egg capacity and a Smith of 47,000 and Ohlen's Hatchery has installed a 12,000 egg nest. Each plant has a number of smaller incubators in use as before.

With these new nests Campbell will hatch about 50 per cent more baby chicks this year than last and already advance orders will approximate 400,000.

E. W. Ohlen is a member of the accredited association and his hatchery stock comes from birds of tested laying strains with a record kept to back them up. Beside these largest plants there are a number of others, Denton Poultry yards being much advertised. This plant specializes in the heavier breeds and has built up quite a demand for Denton chicks.

The egg and fryer departments of the poultry business has received a new impetus because of these hatcheries. Some ranches are producing quantities of quality eggs while others buy the chicks and raise to the market size. It makes a complete cycle in which the entire community is benefited.

KIWANIANS GET MORE LIGHT

Kiwanians were treated to one of the most instructive lectures given in Campbell at the Wednesday luncheon.

Capt. G. B. Baldwin, special publicity representative of the Pacific Gas and Electric Co., assisted by G. E. Ninnis gave an illustrated lecture on the development and growth of hydro-electric power as projected by his company. Several of its big achievements have been and are the biggest in the world and electric engineers have come from Europe to study this plant which is a step-down station from 22,000 volts to 120 as used in the bay region.

The slides also showed some of the beauty spots along the Pit River where a new camp ground has been established near Burney Falls near Lake Britton.

Capt. Baldwin stated that his company is now preparing for the rapid growth of the state which is expected to reach 10,000,000 in 1950.

Capt. Baldwin received many compliments on his interesting talk. Mr. Ninnis is the son of Mr. and Mrs. G. T. Ninnis of Rincon Avenue. The Campfire service was supplied by Miriam Blaine and Emma Rapp.

Frank Haliwell made a hit as chairman when he hailed several fellows for their misdeeds.

Trustee C. H. Whitman gave a good account of himself while at the district meeting at Modesto and also a good report of the convention itself.

Oluf Strom will hold sway next Wednesday and E. M. Ralph, Supt. of San Jose Water Co., will give the talk on "Water Supply."

"California" Subject

Moreland Good Will Club held its regular meeting Jan. 19, with Mrs. Geo. Smith of Saratoga Ave. The meeting was a small one, several of the members being ill. Reports were given of the enjoyable meeting with the We and Our Neighbors club. Mrs. Brown read an interesting article on the "First-Prisidio" by Al B. Kerbie, this being the start of our study of California and its land marks to be carried on the rest of the club year.

A social hour followed during which light refreshments were served. Adjourned to meet with Mrs. Edna Jones, 392 Sierra Ave., San Jose.

Mrs Clinkscales

Honored

Mrs. Corinne Clinkscales, sister of Mrs. Ben Rodeck, Mrs. M. E. Kennedy and Mrs. Etta C. Alison was the guest of honor at a small party Saturday evening, at which Miss Mary Rodeck was hostess. Bridge was the diversion of the evening and dainty refreshments were served.

Mrs. Clinkscales, who has been visiting her sisters in Monterey accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Rodeck here over the week-end and Tuesday went to Palo Alto with Mrs. Alison.

POULTRY FEEDING

Dr. W. F. Holst of the U. C. will speak at the I. O. O. F. Hall, Third and Santa Clara Streets, San Jose, next Wednesday, Feb. 2nd, at 8 o'clock. His subject will be "Poultry Feeding" and Dr. Holst is probably one of the best authorities in California on this subject, and his discussion will be of value and interest to poultry raisers hereabouts.

Mr. and Mrs. Colwell of San Jose, were voted members of the Orchard City grange Tuesday evening and applications were received for two other memberships.

Mr. LeRoy Anderson discussed legislation, both national and state—matters of much importance to agriculture are before our legislators and will receive careful attention. Messrs. Cooley and Conk also spoke on legislative matters.

Mr. Hedegard presented a resolution favoring a new high school building, which was supported by remarks from Prof. Cramer, Dr. Merrill and others. The resolution was adopted.

Arrangements have been completed for an illustrated lecture by Sidney S. S. Stansell on "Hiawatha's Chickens" to be given at the grammar school auditorium this Friday evening, Jan. 28. Everyone should hear this interesting and instructive lecture on our feathered friends of the air and field. Tickets were in great demand at a recess following the announcement.

The new grange lecturer, Mrs. Jessie McChesney had arranged a fine program of music by Mr. and Mrs. Carey accompanied by Mrs. Barnes on the piano. Also a talk by past state master E. T. Pettit on accomplishments of the grange since its organization in 1868 at Fredonia, N. Y. Only a few of the outstanding achievements could be mentioned; among them being the making of the head of the national department of agriculture a cabinet member in 1889; preventing the renewal of patents on Sewing machines; Government regulations of railroads; regulations of the manufacture and sale of Oleomargarine, and the rural free delivery of mail, which was only brought about by long continued effort; and finally the cooperation of many other societies. Then came the Parcel Post Act and the Postal Savings banks which is very important in some parts of the country today.

But besides all of this, and much more important, has been the opportunity offered to many farmers and others to speak in public on important matters constantly coming before the people and the work for better manhood and womanhood that has been promoted by the grange.

The grange stands today more respected and with greater influence than ever before, and for the highest order of social development.

The membership throughout the country is rapidly growing, many new granges being formed each year.

The next meeting will be Feb. 8

January Party

The January Birthday party was held this year at the home of Mrs. Pardee on Sunny Oaks Avenue, Jan. 18. Nine ladies were present to enjoy a social afternoon. This is the ninth yearly meeting of these ladies and their enthusiasm still is high.

The refreshment table was beautiful in pink and green. The dark cake decorated with snow drops and pink edging held the center, surrounded by smilax, real snowdrops and ferns. The refreshments through out were delicious. The meeting place 1928 will be with a new number in San Jose.

J. H. Neff reports sales from his nursery sales yard adjoining good. Many people are realizing the Orchard Theater, as very the advantages of planting shrubbery as well as flowers in their yards.

HATS OFF!

Hat off to George Young, plucky 17-year-old Canadian youth who won the Wm. Wrigley swimming derby and $25,000, to help, as he expressed it, his widowed mother! The lad negotiated the swift and cold ocean channel of 23 miles between Santa Catalina island and the mainland at San Pedro, California, against some hundred entrants. This is probably the world's greatest athletic feat of endurance; at least it is one of the most remarkable. Now what will George do with his money? If he keeps his head or has it kept for him, he will make more money. It is almost a tragedy for one to fall into sudden riches unless the recipient is able to "stand the strain." But this boy is a hero to lovers of sport. Though his feat did not produce any necessities of life, nor did his accomplishment add anything to the national wealth, it is none the less praiseworthy. But we wouldn't advise him nor anybody else to try it again.

The people of the United States showed their broad spirit when the boy completed his swim over all others who had dropped out. Sympathies of the spectators, radio listeners and newspaper readers were with him. That he was a Canadian, a plucky youth who landed in a rattle-trap side car of a motorcycle with 65 cents in his pocket; that he was worn physically from his journey, probably undernourished, and above all, that he was a mere boy, added to his achievement the plaudits and admiration of the thousands of sport fans who had awaited the outcome.

PROPERTY RIGHTS AND WRONGS

Under international law or notwithstanding it, a foreign power may pass any sort of property law to exclude alien ownership or concession. But reason steps in and says such law can be made retroactive or unduly severe to the deprivation of acquired rights. Mexico points to the Oriental-exclusion land law passed by California as one measure of justification for her oil and land laws which she seeks to enforce against American property rights. But there is no parallel between the two cases, because California did not confiscate the acquired property of the Japanese and other Orientals, but merely provided against future ownership. Acquired property was permitted to be sold in the open market; whereas the Mexican government proposes to fix its own values and then compel American interests to sell at the appraised price.

NO DIVIDING LINE

The U. S. Supreme Court has decided that a Senate committee may subpoena and compel the attendance of private citizens at investigations when the testimony is sought "for legislative purposes." But the court apparently did not undertake to determine where the line can be drawn, or who is to decide whether an investigation is for legislative purposes. The decision draws a close line between the legislative and judicial branches of government under the Constitution.

Secretary of Commerce Hoover has endorsed the Great Lakes and St. Lawrence river development project, and now the country ought to "Hooverize" long enough to put it through.

Two women stayed in the ocean water for 19 hours in the Catalina swim. With fame and $25,000 a stake some people will try anything.

Don't be discouraged. Many a citizen of Los Gatos is just waiting to be asked to do something for it, and he'll do it, too!

Now that we don't have to read about Aimée McPherson, how about reading more of the ads in the Mail-News.

Southern Pacific Pays Hospital Bill

The Southern Pacific Railway Company, although it could not be held responsible for the accident, has voluntarily agreed to pay $400 for serious injuries sustained by Jane Audrey Dossee, 9-year-old Los Gatos girl, in a plunge from the railroad's trestle near Los Gatos December 23 to avoid an approaching train.

This was revealed yesterday in San Jose with the granting to the girl's mother, Mrs. Zoe Frances Dossee, of legal guardianship of little Jane in an order signed by Superior Judge P. F. Gosbey in order that the payment of the $400 might be made by the railroad.

The accident, which cost the life of Jane's older sister, Helen Ida aged 11, occurred two days before Christmas when the two girls were on a hike in the hills. Caught on the trestle with the train approaching, the girls jumped, Helen dying two hours later from injuries such injuries that her life for a long time was despaired of.

During the week of December 12-18 the Agricultural Extension Service of San Bernardino and Riverside counties, co-operating with Chaffey Junior college, held four pruning demonstrations, two in each county. Both apricot and peaches were considered.

Decision has been made by the state department of agriculture to launch a campaign to rid Sacramento of the citrus white fly pest, which has infected thirty-three species of ornamental and economic plants in an area of 300 blocks in Sacramento.

Investment Problems

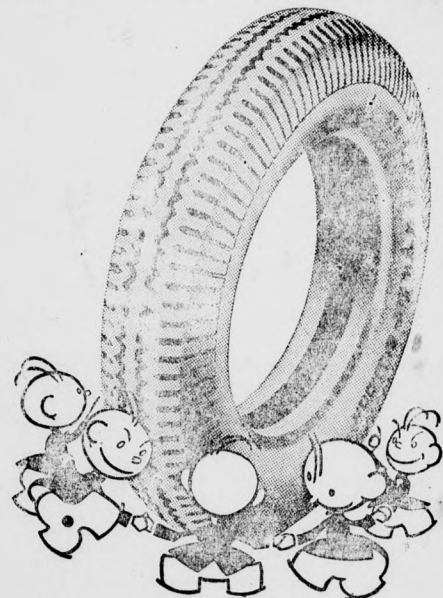

A good bond for an active business man is not necessarily a good bond for a widow. Each investor has his own problems of yield, maturity and diversification to consider; and unless he has had unusual training the problems frequently are very perplexing.

Hi School Activities

New High School For Campbell.

Friday night the San Jose and Campbell High School teams will tangle in the San Jose High School gym. The heavyweight teams of these schools are tied in their league standing.

The Campbell offense, built around Monte, Nishida and Gardner should run up enough points to win over the San Jose heavyweights. Monte has averaged fourteen or more points in every league game he has played.

In Merrill and E. Nelson, Coach Noddin has two guards that can compare with the best. They stopped the scoring power of the Y Golds and Santa Clara Pirates and should find little difficulty in stopping the San Jose forwards. Tainter, Freitas, Murdoch and Talia can ably fill in at any position whenever needed.

The San Jose 130's should win over the Campbell light weights as the Orchard City lads have yet to win a league game. However as they are improving in every game, they might spring a surprise over the San Jose boys. The Shadle twins and C. Nelson are the outstanding men for Campbell.

The teams should have more support. If they are not backed up by good attendance at the games, what can be expected but defeat. Get to the games, use your voice, and help the teams to win!—J. Hiatt.

The Sophomores have secured the Library Hall for a class party—the first of the year—and so are looking forward with great eagerness to the event.

The Hartsook Studios have been awarded the contract for the Senior pictures, and will also furnish the group pictures for the Oriole. Specimen announcements have been examined, but no selection yet made—Polly Maxon.

The Oriole staff held its first meeting Tuesday night, and decided to set Tuesday night after school for its regular weekly meetings until the annual is ready for the press. The following schedule was adopted:

February 8: Drive for material to begin.

March 8: Photographs sitings complete.

April 8: Photographs to be sent to engraver.

May 8: All manuscripts and cuts to the printer.

June 8: Class Night. Distribution of Orioles.

SENIOR PLAY

The Senior Play rehearsals are being held regularly four nights of every week, and the cast are whipping rapidly into shape. Everything points to a finished production early in March.

This week closes the semester; final examinations are very popular with the teachers, and Mr. Cramer reminds the students that 4's not made up before the close of the week will count as failures.

Nominations for new officers in all the organizations have been made, and elections will soon be held.—Cecil Cutting.

JUNIOR ACTIVITIES

In the Junior meeting called Monday, Jan. 24th, it was decided to have a Junior Party Saturday the 12th of February, at a place not yet decided upon. Dick Lynden, class yell leader is planning some peppy yells for the final basketball game between the Junior and Sophomore girls to take place Thursday, Jan. 27th.—Miriam Blaine.

CAMP FIRE SPARKS

In the weekly Camp Fire meeting held Thursday, January 20th the Camp Fire Girls of the Cherokee Group nominated officers for the coming school semester.

Plans were discussed for the Grand Council Fire to be held in the gym of the San Jose High School, Feb. 4th, and plans for a local council fire are also being arranged.—Miriam Blaine.

The third house in this vicinity to be looted of furniture is that of Mr. and Mrs. G. Kinkaid, on Downing Avenue and Infirmary Road. The family had but recently moved to that residence and subsequently went to Fresno for a short visit. Upon their return they found that furniture and clothes valued at more than $500 had been removed from the house. Entrance had been gained by cutting a screen and breaking a window. This form of robbery is becoming a serious problem.

FUNERAL OF ANNA LUND IS HELD

Services for Miss Anna Lund, who passed away Friday, January 21, at her home above Los Gatos after a lingering illness, were held in Los Gatos, Jan. 22 and attended by her many sorrowing friends who mourn the passing of one who was stricken in young womanhood. While born in Los Gatos nineteen years ago, she had spent most of her life in Campbell where the family resided for a number of years. She was a graduate of the local schools and had made plans to train for a nurse at the time she was stricken.

She leaves to mourn her passing her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Lund, and a sister Carlyn.

Interment was at Los Gatos, where the profusion of beautiful floral tokens showed the esteem her many friends.

UNION DISTRICT

Saturday, January 15, was a gala event in the We and Our Neighbors' club. The club entertained a number of the clubs in the county. The clubhouse was attractively arranged for the affair. Mrs. Edwin Howes, president of the club, presided over the meeting and extended a hearty welcome to the honored guests. The regular meeting of the club was carried out. The quarterly report of the board of directors was read, which showed the business transacted by the board. Senate bill No. 10 known as the daylight saving bill, was discussed by a number of those present. The club was invited to attend a musical program to be given at the Los Gatos History club Wednesday afternoon. Members are also urged to attend the county federation meeting to be held Friday, Jan. 28, at the Los Gatos History club. All reservations for luncheon should be made before January 25 with Miss Mary Gilbert 15 Ellenwood avenue, Gatos.

A Good Record

Several Campbellites attended the joint concert of the Men's Glee Clubs of the U. C. and Stanford at the latter's auditorium Saturday night.

Our community has the distinction of being represented in both organizations, undoubtedly a unique one for a town of this size. Richard Shelley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Shelley of the Los Gatos highway is a member of the Berkeley choristers, and Yale Maxon son of Mr. and Mrs. R. Y. Maxon of Winchester Road, carols with the Cardinals.

Congratulations—Campbell is always proud of the achievements of its young people in whatever line their success may be.

News of Interest to All

Confused by the dense fog, a flock of wild geese raised havoc with the electric lighting service in Willows when in attempting to light on a local street, they crashed into a power line and threw a large part of the residential district into darkness. Two wires were broken. The hubbub they made raised such a disturbance that scantily clad citizens, using both clubs and profanity, were soon inviting them forcibly to move elsewhere.

The old Hite property, familiar to mining men of the early days, which is located in Mariposa county, near the Merced river, will be reopened, according to announcement made by Clifford J. MacMillan, state corporation commissioner, who has granted a permit to the Yosemite Gold Mining Company to sell stock in the mine. The property is more than sixty years old, and approximately $100,000 has been taken from the mine.

The Manteca Union Sunday School association has filed suit against W. F. Pennebaker, of Manteca, asking for $250, interest and costs of action. The suit was filed by Attorney Preuss in the local justice court. The complaint alleges that the defendant collected the sum of $1,750 as insurance money when the church building burned on July 28, 1925, and that he has only paid over to the association the sum of $1,500.

Tree plantings affecting every section of the state highway where the state highway commission has attempted to beautify the road, will be undertaken by the board within a short time, according to announcement made by M. B. Pratt, State Forester. The commission ordered 1,472 trees from the state nursery in Yolo county according to Pratt. They will be for replacement of dead trees along the highway.

P. G. & E. BEGINS RECORD PROGRAM

The Pacific Gas and Electric Company has big projects on its 1927 construction program. New plants will be added to the Company's System and present plants will be enlarged. The year 1927 promises to be a busy one for the construction crews; they are now engaged on four big hydro-electric jobs in the Sierras and on many gas and electric construction and maintenance jobs in the various cities served.

In the upper ledges of the Mokelumme River in Amador County, surveyors are marking the way for the building of a road to the site of the Salt Springs Dam; generating machinery is being set in the Melones Power House on the Stanislaus River east of Oakdale.

A crew is busy making enlargements on the Spaulding Drum Development in Placer and Nevada Counties, and in Shasta County work is progressing on the Pit No. 4 Development. The Salt Springs Development in Amador County calls for a tremendous program. A great rock filled dam 200 feet high or more will be thrown across the Mokelumme River. A reservoir of at least 50,000 acre foot capacity and 25 mile water conduit; a 44,000 horse power generating plant at Tiger Creek and a greater output for the Electric Power House at Jackson, capacity of which will be raised from 26,000 horse power to 44,000.

This job alone will take four years to complete. Appropriations for the first years on this job will be devoted largely to preliminary work costing $1,500,000. The Melones Power House which is to take water from the reservoir built on the Stanislaus by the South San Joaquin and Oakdale Irrigation Districts is scheduled to be completed June 1st. Work on this project will continue through the winter and until the new $2,500,000 power project, adding 36 horse power to the Company's System is completed. On the Spaulding Drum Development there will be employed hundreds of men in enlarging the two Spaulding Power Plants, it being the plan to dismantle the present plants to make way for plants for larger capacity. A third and new plant will be built on the rim of Lake Spaulding. The capacity of the Drum Power House near Gold Run will be increased from 50,000 to 67,000 horse power. This work is necessary to enable the Company to make further use of the additional water made available by raising the Fordyce Dam and the water now being developed by the Nevada Irrigation District at Bowman.

Material and supplies are now being moved in on the Lake Spaulding jobs over a track recently laid by the Southern Pacific Company from the station at Smart. The Spaulding 1 and 2 Plants will be placed in operation this year and a No. 3 Plant is scheduled to be ready early in the spring of 1928. Appropriations already made for the Spaulding Drum Development aggregate more than $2,000,000. In Shasta County the Pit No. 4 Dam which was started last year is scheduled to be completed early in 1927. Large expenditures are to be made in all the Divisions.

The San Francisco Division will spend approximately $500,000 on the new work and as much more for operating and maintenance. In the East Bay Division $500,000 is to be applied to the building of new power transmission lines alone. Sacramento Division get $500,000, or a construction program that includes rebuilding of the Davis Substation. San Jose will spend $400,000, on the Newark Coyote Tower Line and $100,000 or more on a new substation in Monte Vista.

There is a gas program, calling for $4,000,000 for additions and betterments and more than $1,100,000 for maintenance. In the East Bay territory $400,000 will be paid out for mains for new consumers. In every section important additions will be made to meet and anticipate demands for service. In Biggs and Gridley and adjacent territory a thousand new consumers are to be supplied from a new high pressure distribution line. Sacramento gets half a million dollars to provide for growing gas needs. There are thousands of items in the electrical and gas construction programs and every item is of importance to some group of consumers. In short, 1927 is to be another memorable year for the Pacific Gas and Electric Company and for the vast territory served by its lines and mains.

"Tell me what you eat and I'll tell you what you are," runs an old adage. Tell me if you drink bootleg and I already know what you are, is the modern version.

"Skirt, once a common noun, has become a mere abbreviation,"—Norfolk Virginian Pilot. And if the forecast of that Parisian fashion arbiter is true, in 1927 it will be shortened to an exclamation point.

CALIFORNIA PARK PROGRAM BEGINS

State Parks Program Inaugurated

A comprehensive State Parks program, which will realize the full value of California's scenic and recreational assets, has been inaugurated through the introduction of three bills in the California State Legislature by Senator Arthur H. Breed. Creation of a central State Park Commission to administer all parks; the carrying out of a comprehensive State Park survey from which a park plan for the State can be developed; and a $6,000,000 bond issue to be matched with an equal amount from private gift and other sources, make up this program. These measures are being supported by the California State Parks Committee, of which Duncean McDuffie of Berkeley is chairman, representing many California organizations interested in conservation, recreation and outdoor life, including the Save-the-Redwoods League, the Sierra Club, the California League of Municipalities and the Calaveras Big Trees Association. Its advocates point out that the park measures will effect efficient administration of the present disorganized park properties by placing them under one commission, and will afford an adequate plan for California's future park needs, based on the survey.

The measures are summarized as follows:

Senate Bill 439 creates a central State Park Commission of five, without salary, and empowers this commission to appoint a salaried State Park director and other employees. All parks, public camp grounds, monument sites, landmark sites, and sites of historical interest owned by the State of California, except a few parks within incorporated cities, are to be under their jurisdiction. The State Park Commission will have the power to acquire park properties by gift, purchase or condemnation and to make rules and regulations for the protection and administration of parks.

Senate Bill 440 empowers the State Park Commission to make a survey to determine what lands are suitable and desirable for the ultimate development of a comprehensive, well balanced State Park system for California.

Senate Bill 441 provides for the issuance of "California State Park Bonds" to the amount of $6,000,000, the proceeds to be used in acquiring State properties as approved by the State Park Commission, with the proviso that State funds shall be used for this purpose only when they are matched by an equal amount from private gift or other outside sources. This act, if passed by the Legislature and signed by the Governor, will go before the voters of the State in November, 1928.

Musicians Begin Festival Practice

The first rehearsal for the music for the Saratoga Blossom festival took place Monday in the conference room of the San Jose Evening high school.

All persons who have participated in previous festival choruses were requested to report Monday, and singers who have not taken part in years past but who desire to assist this year are also invited to come.

Leroy V. Brant, musical director for 1927 was present to meet the singers.

It is planned to produce the following choruses this year: Hallelujah Chorus, from The Messiah; The Heavens Are Telling, from The Creation; The Bridal Chorus, from The Rose Maiden; Spring, Pansy; Awake, Ye Birds, from King Arthur and The Battle Chorus, from the same cantata.

George Matthews' San Jose Little Symphony orchestra will furnish concert numbers and will also give orchestral accompaniment.

Dr. Louis Mendelssohn, chairman of the program committee, states that two special cars will be run via the Peninsular railway to transport singers and players to the amphitheater. The music for the choruses is on hand and all is in readiness for work to begin. He states the tentative date of March 26 has been set for the fete, but that this date will depend of course on the weather and also the blossoms. Singers will be required on one day only, Saturday. There is to be no Sunday observance this year.

State officials made the surprising announcement that "the mourning bride" and "the tree of heaven" are running wild in the San Francisco bay district. That sounds bad, and so it is, but only from the standpoint of plant quarantine. The state department of agriculture says that the allanthus, which the Chinese call "the tree of heaven," and the scabiosa, otherwise "the mourning bride" are growing wild in the flower yards of San Francisco and have become such pests that steps for their control have become necessary.
